ABOUT BROCK

I am a Montana born professional tailoring my career to design and build innovative Architecture across the continental United States.

My passion for the industry was forged early in a family of artisans, builders, developers and artists. Since the young age of 4 my Mother and Grandmother enrolled me in drawing competitions and encouraged my natural ability to draw by coordinating tutors and mentorships. From the age of 12 my Father took me on his job sites during the summer to labor and learn the trade of carpentry. Both investments have influenced my career in obvious ways and I continue to advance each skill to this day.

I value family and have built a life with my highschool sweetheart Julia. We have four amazing children and they are all old enough to share in our adventures.

While I am satisfied to serve wherever I am needed, I am fueled by a challenge and uniquely equipped to thrive when precision is a priority. I enjoy working with others and have experience in leadership roles that demand dependability, active communication, decisive decision-making and forward thinking.

The timeline of my career highlights are important mile markers but a serious oversimplification of the last 20 years of life. If you need clarification or would like further explanation please reach out to me at one of the contacts provided.
